STAT Dear [redacted]

I do believe that it would be in the interest of the U.S. Government for the Russian Research Center Library to receive the FBIS. Daily Report on the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

If received, it would be kept in the librarian's office under close supervision. Every user would be advised of the restrictions, namely that some of the items are copyrighted, coming under the protection of the copyright laws, and that the FBIS report itself is never to be quoted as a source, either in speech or in print.

Further, if there were ever to be a change in the position of Librarian, the new holder would be fully informed as to these provisions.

Sincerely yours,

Susan Jo Gardos

(Mrs.) Susan Jo Gardos
Librarian

MEMORANDUM FOR: Ed Proctor
Assistant Deputy Director for Intelligence

SUBJECT : Additional Information Relating to my Recommendation that the FBIS Daily Reports, USSR and Eastern Europe, be made Available to the Russian Research Center, Harvard University

1. I have checked with [redacted] STAT and I am informed by him that the Acting Director of the Russian Research Center, Professor Richard Pipes and two senior professors, Merle Fainsod and Adam B. Ulam, have discussed with [redacted] STAT STAT [redacted] their desire to have access to the FBIS Daily Reports, and their willingness to handle them appropriately. Consequently, there appears to be no problem insofar as the leadership of the Russian Research Center is concerned. On the contrary, there is a positive desire to receive the Daily Reports.
